

A woodpecker with a bright red crest and a long, dark beak is shown from the chest up. It has a grumpy expression with slanted, downward-pointing eyebrows and wide, staring eyes. The background is a light blue wash with faint, vertical tree trunks and a large, textured yellow and orange shape at the top, possibly a sun or a large flower. The text is written in a hand-drawn, black, sans-serif font, slanted upwards from left to right. A thin black line connects the text to the bird's head.

"WHAT ARE YOU
GOING TO DO ABOUT THAT
FUZZYBUTT?"